Direct from the Director

Dear Friends,

The old adage “April showers bring May flowers” held true again this year. Everything is in bloom here, especially at our Kula Urban Farm! We are watching the farm’s “growth” as construction proceeds on our open-air pavilion and a new structure with a full-service kitchen and two restrooms, projected for completion and a ribbon cutting celebration later this summer. In the meantime, we are bringing more fresh, sustainable produce to residents and creating pathways to employment and wellness.

As we enjoy the transition into a new season, we also navigate a time marked by uncertainty and shifting landscapes. I want to express my deepest gratitude for your continued support of our mission. Unsettled times present challenges, but they also illuminate the strength, resilience, and compassion that define our community. With every obstacle, we see an opportunity—to adapt, grow, and deepen our impact. We are incredibly thankful for the dedication of our staff, volunteers, and supporters who keep our work moving forward and our Founder, Joe Marmora’s vision alive. We are an agency for all seasons, and our programs continue to support all ages through waves of change. With your continued support, we remain hopeful and energized for what the future holds!

With gratitude,

Paul L. McEvily
Executive Director
